AIOU To Provide Skill-Based Training For CPEC

The Allama Iqbal Open University has announced to provide skill-based training for CPEC. AIOU will join hands with the Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA) to train the youth. The Vice-Chancellor of AIOU said that under this project, the university has designed many specific courses so that youth can be trained by considering the requirements of the industrial zones so that they can easily look for the relevant jobs and make their career. He further added that this is very important to engage the local people and the university has been preparing for the various courses to educate the youth.

Skill Based Training

The VC said that it is very significant to promote skill-based education and in this regard, many special courses are offered by AIOU such as computer, tractor repairing, poultry, and farming so that technical training can be provided to the people and they can earn their livelihood. The university has also offered courses in tailoring and embroidery to train the girls of the area of Gilgit Baltistan. Moreover, the university offers courses to all people irrespective of their age, gender, or social status. There is no age bar to get an education from the Allama Iqbal Open University. The AIOU has been playing a significant role to promote education by taking various initiatives such as free education is being provided to the transgender community, jail inmates, and also children of martyrs. Besides this fee concession is also offered to the orphans and poor students.

AIOU to launch skill training

To build the capacity of out-of-school children

Our Correspondent | September 10, 2020

ISLAMABAD: The Allama Iqbal Open University (AIOU) will launch skill-based training programmes for the unemployed and uneducated young men and women of the country from its Autumn 2020 semester.

The programme will be launched in collaboration with Alight Pakistan and Japan International Cooperative Agency (JICA) to build the capacity of out-of-school children, illiterate, and unemployed youth in Pakistan.

In the first phase, two skill-based training programmes on designing, cutting, stitching and entrepreneurship for girls and masonry for boys will be organised in Gilgit and Skardu.

The training will provide youth from these areas to train local communities as workforce for the CPEC.
